

Milo's Tea is Steeped in Budgeting Success

Milo's Tea, a family-owned manufacturer of 100% natural ready to drink beverages including sweet tea and lemonade, struggled to involve department managers in the budget process while relying on Excel as their primary finance tool. Prophix has allowed their finance team to budget and forecast collaboratively by involving staff early on in the process.

Business Challenges

The budgeting process was predominately owned by the finance and accounting department. After determining projected sales for the fiscal year, the finance team compiled the remainder of the budget (i.e. cost of goods, expenses, etc.). This approach limited departmental input and made it difficult for the team to review their budgets as they progressed. Milo's Tea was eager to find a solution that would allow them to budget collaboratively and move away from their reliance on Excel spreadsheets.

Why Prophix?

Milo's Tea chose Prophix's Corporate Performance Management (CPM) software because it allowed them to centralize their financial data. With Prophix, they can also involve their wider team in the budget process and easily distribute reports to executives.

Results

Establishing a forecasting process and cadence was one of the top priorities of Milo's Prophix implementation. With CPM software, Milo's Tea can easily create flexible, accurate forecasts that empower their finance team to make strategic business decisions based on real-time information.
